

On a farm in the valley, just out of town,
there lived a small piglet with a very big frown.
He didn't seem happy, he didn't have fun...
the look on his face was ever so glum.
Pigs have a purpose, of this he was sure...
he longed for a life that offered him more.

PIGS
WELCOME

Then early one morning, right out of the blue,
the piglet had a dream he believed would come true.

"It's only a dream sweetheart,"
explained his mother.

"Pigs can't go to school.
They'll just turn you away son,
it's against all their rules."

"Oh please Mum," begged the piglet,
"please let me go.
If I don't give it a try,
then I'll never know."
