

“During my twelve years as a “Postie” I have personally experienced many funny, frightening, fortunate and memorable incidences whilst delivering the mail, and I began to wonder just how many anecdotes there must be amongst us all, given many of my co-workers have been doing the job for twenty and thirty years. The following is a small collection of those stories as experienced by me and told to me by my fellow Posties. All the street, customer and other names used within the stories are complete fiction. Although a small part of all the stories is based on actual events, certain literacy license has been used that in no way reflects the current work practices or policies of Australia Post.

I hope you get as much enjoyment from reading these stories as I did when I experienced them. I hope they give you a laugh or two. So come and deliver a few letters with me!”
